

Looking for Volunteers

Rice Child + Family Center in Evanston is a temporary home for DCFS wards who have been taken out of their homes for various reasons.

They are in the process of creating sensory spaces -a specific type of clinical intervention focused on helping kids control their emotions through grounding. These spaces are going to include 3 murals.

Rice Child + Family Center are looking for volunteers to paint these murals (approximately a 15'x12') If interested, the student would get to interact with the clients, take part in team building and collaboration with our staff and therapists to decide what to paint, and also paint the mural.

Please email me or call the number below with any thoughts, questions, or interest.

William Sackley, Psy.D.
