

ANN WINSCOTT TO EDIT 1936 ECHOES

Tri-Ship Ends 1934-35 With Usual Success

With the closing of the year the Tri-Ship can again look back with much pride upon its accomplishments during 1935. Unquestionably, the new officers will have very fine accomplishments, established by the club in 1934-35, to live up to. Probably the two most spectacular and interesting events of the year were the W. L. S. Barn Dance and the Mother-son dinner.

The former, held in early October, was substituted in place of the previous radio shows and proved to be a success both financially and as a new piece of entertainment. The latter came in middle February and is still vivid in the minds of all fellows who were smart enough to go. Needless to say, the bright spot of the evening to the hundreds of mothers and fellows was the guest of honor, Madame Schumman-Hienk.

Several Lectures

These two events were amply supplemented by various lectures and talks, perhaps the most interesting and fortunate of these was presented by Mr. Bill Tilden.

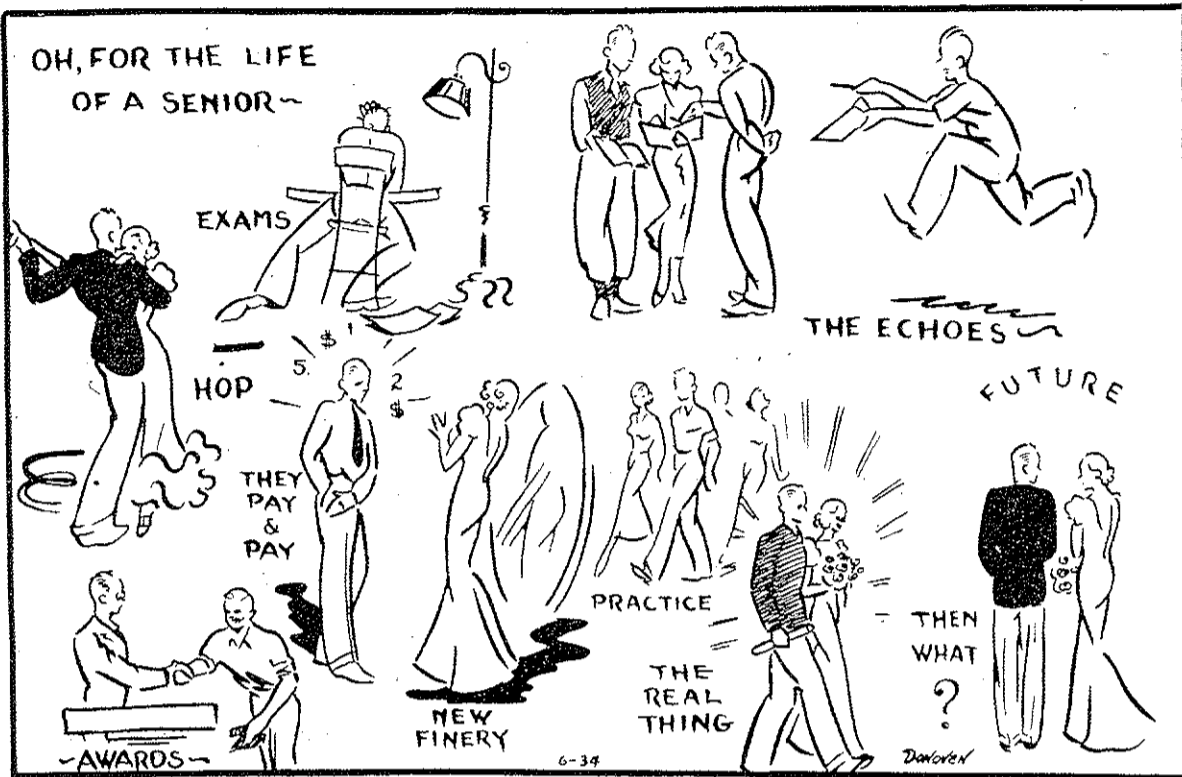

The Tri-Ship dances were over with us, varying in spirit and type. The most striking was the one where the girls took the boys.

No matter how unusual and strange the entertainment the Tri-Ship may present during the year, its finest work is through the Charity Committee (now Student Aid Com.) The Weds. sandwiches done away with this year, the Student Aid com. has been able to devote its time and funds to the helping of students through school. This work it did with great energy and the desire to do its best.

New Trophy Case

The Tri-Ship was able to profit by ideas of other schools through the work of the Interscholastic Relations Committee. Also, a new trophy case had been put in the Tri-Ship Room through the work of the Room Committee and it has contributed greatly to the room's appearance.

So upon reviewing the accomplishments of the 1935 Tri-Ship Club we see that they are many and unusual. Things to be viewed with pride by the class, and to be lived up to by the officers next year in guiding the policies of the club in 1935-36.

TRI-SHIP OFFERS PLAN OF CONTROL FOR ASSEMBLIES

In the past month or so a very grave situation has arisen at New Trier in regard to the student attitude in assemblies. This trouble has, instead of decreasing after warnings by Mr. Gaffney, constantly increased until the latter has been forced to say that from now on no assemblies may be held until some plan can be devised which may cure the poor behavior in assembly.

Since any question of student morale devolves upon the Tri-Ship, and since it must be admitted that 90% of the trouble is caused by the boys, the Tri-Ship has submitted a plan to Mr. Gaffney by which it feels an assembly may be successfully carried out.

The Tri-Ship wishes to ask the cooperation of every boy, since it is only with 100% backing of the students that there may be any assemblies next year.

Ornithologist Club to Hear Mr. Simpson

Orville Simpson, prominent amateur bird lecturer, will talk at the next meeting of the "Ornithologist Club" on June 6.

He has been very highly recommended to us as an interesting and entertaining speaker. Birds are his hobby—the best qualification for a good speech," states Mr. Hildebrand, faculty sponsor of the club.

Members are urged to bring visitors to this meeting.

"BOOK STORE OPERATED TO SAVE YOU MONEY" STATES MR. JOHNSON, MGR.

It is not uncommon to hear among students such statements as these: "There must be graft in the Book Store, for they certainly make plenty on everything they sell." "Why should we pay a lot for books just so somebody in the Book Store can make a big profit?"

Seniors To Light On Orrington Roof For Annual Hop

On Tuesday evening, June 11 the Senior Hop will be held on the Orrington Hotel roof. It will be open to juniors and seniors, and juniors may bring only juniors or seniors, while seniors may come with anyone they wish. The dance will run from 9:00 on, with Tommy Hildebrand's orchestra providing the music. The Hop committee has arranged for punch to be served and there will be pleasing decorations.

Tickets, costing $1.50 a couple and $2.00 for stags, are on sale in junior and senior advisories and will also be obtainable at the door.

"Bab" Concludes Successful Year

After weeks of hectic rehearsals the Dramatic Club presented what was beyond any doubt one of the finest senior plays in New Trier history.

Claire Nix as Bab and Ben Fillis as her father contributed outstanding performances, and the other members of the cast portrayed their parts well. The players maintained the rapid tempo necessary for a comedy of this sort.

WORK ON NEWS QUALIFIES HER FOR NEW POST

The election of Ann Winscott to the position of editor-in-chief of the 1936 Echoes has just been announced by Mr. Carpenter, faculty sponsor of the annual.

This appointment is made with the cooperating approval of the student council and the retiring officers of the Echoes staff.

The new editor-in-chief of the Echoes is the first girl to hold the office without a co-editor. Only once before, in 1933, was there a girl editor-in-chief of the Echoes. That year Emma Bickham was co-editor with Vic Hanson.

Ann Winscott has been advertising manager of the NEWS during her sophomore year, and both business manager and advertising manager during her junior year. Her work in these offices has been largely responsible for the financial success of the News during the first two years of its revived publication.

To the work of her new position the editor brings experience in a number of other activities, including girls athletics and class committees. She was one of the nominees for president of the 1936 student council. She has done considerable work in office practice courses under Mr. Herron and practically as private secretary to Mrs. Lighter, head of the home economics department.

Through conferences she has made herself familiar with the work of the Echoes staff. With James Donovan, 1935 editor, she is already planning the dummy for the 1936 edition of the Echoes.

Other elections to Echoes offices will be announced in the fall, according to Mr. Carpenter.

Echoes Distribution Plans Made Known

The Echoes will be distributed in advisory period Wednesday morning. The advisory room agent will call at room 212 before school and receive the copies for his room. He thus become responsible for seeing that every subscriber in his advisory gets a copy.

This plan of distribution follows that of previous years and has been found highly successful. This method insures every subscriber's getting his copy within fifteen minutes after distribution commences.

Any questions should be referred to William McFadzean in room 212 or to Mr. Carpenter in room 407.

HOW DULL IT IS TO PAUSE!

With sad and melancholy feelings on the part of all, the school year draws to a close. The many happy hours in class will soon be over. How sad we are to leave the busy atmosphere of happy study.

The summer will drag by slowly and languidly with time to throw away. Summer seems so dull and uninteresting compared to the many happy hours spent studying pleasing interesting books. The summer days are hot and dull, with nothing to do. One longs to return to the quiet, cool classrooms where lively discussions and studies are going on.

One consoling thought remains, however. The long, dull summer will end sometime. Then joyously students will return to their work, with happy and studious ambition. The halls will again be gay and noisy with young life. The much-hated vacation will have passed and been forgotten.

PICKLE FACTORY

If I could cut up and pickle all the people in New Trier who are annoying, I could have such a prosperous pickle industry that John D. Rockefeller would often invite me to play golf with him.

I shall mention a few of those who get under my skin or in my hair the most. First, I abhor the A student occupying the seat in front of mine, who when papers are returned, always turns around and asks, "What did you get?" "You reply, "I got a D. What did you get?" She trusts before my eyes a paper unmarred by any red marks save a large A in the upper lefthand corner. Then she clasps it to her bosom and allows a faint blush to suffuse her modest countenance. "I can't imagine how I managed to get it," she gushes.

Second come those loving couples who are always perched just above me on the stairway when I have exactly thirteen seconds to get to my next class. They linger on each step as if it were fly paper. I may push them and I may pull them, and I may shriek, "Pardon me." Still they linger in my path. Some day I will bring a long sharp needle and test their love.

In a third class I put all those monstrosities who seem to have eight or ten elbows each. They thrive best in halls, where they can jab away to their hearts' content, until they encounter someone who can outjab them and then they are in a sorry plight.

There are many other pickleable people, but I believe that I have mentioned enough for a fairly profitable business.

TWO BLUNT QUESTIONS

The world asks two blunt questions.

"Do you know your job?"

"Do you know anything else?"

Everyone feels the pressure of these two questions sooner or later, for everyone wants to do well his part of the world's work. And everyone prefers to have all he can of that knowledge and insight called culture.

There will be great opportunities in the years ahead for men and women with sound personal habits, disciplined minds, and trained skills.

Continued attendance at some institution of learning is one of the best ways to develop and retain these desirable personal qualities.

'35 Echoes Staff Breaks All Records For Subscriptions

The Echoes subscriptions of this year, numbering 1,343, surpass the total of any other year, including the high mark in 1929, which was about 1,325. The figures are given below:

	Girls	Boys
Senior	232	225
Junior	156	154
Sophomore	161	132
Freshman	139	108
Total	688	619
Faculty			26
Mr. Gaffney's Office			10

Grand Total 1343

Underclass subscriptions far exceeded all hopes. There are about ten extra copies which may be obtained at the price of $2.50 on the day of distribution.

Credit should be given to the circulation manager, Bill McFadzean, to his two assistants, Fred Homan and Bill Jenkins, and to the advisor room representatives.

LOCKER LEAKS

By B. J. W.

It may be great to be in love, but six years seems a bit long for a grammar school romance to flourish. When he is able to refer to the many pictures of her, and recall the previous gangly and toothless ages, and still remain in love, it must be the real thing. It all began when they both lived in Wilmette, and although he now lives in Glencoe, it makes little difference. We think we have the answer—her sweet charm has captivated him completely. Graduation offers no fears for them, because four years more won't matter after the first six. That's love.

In the rush of these last few days the seniors may not have stopped to realize that their high school days are nearly over. Regardless of their pride, we've observed, a few of the more sentimental members of the class have been a bit glum recently. It can't be they hate to leave New Trier. When they flock back to visit during the first vacation next year the truth will all be out. It's no disgrace—the old Alma Mater is a pretty fair place after all.

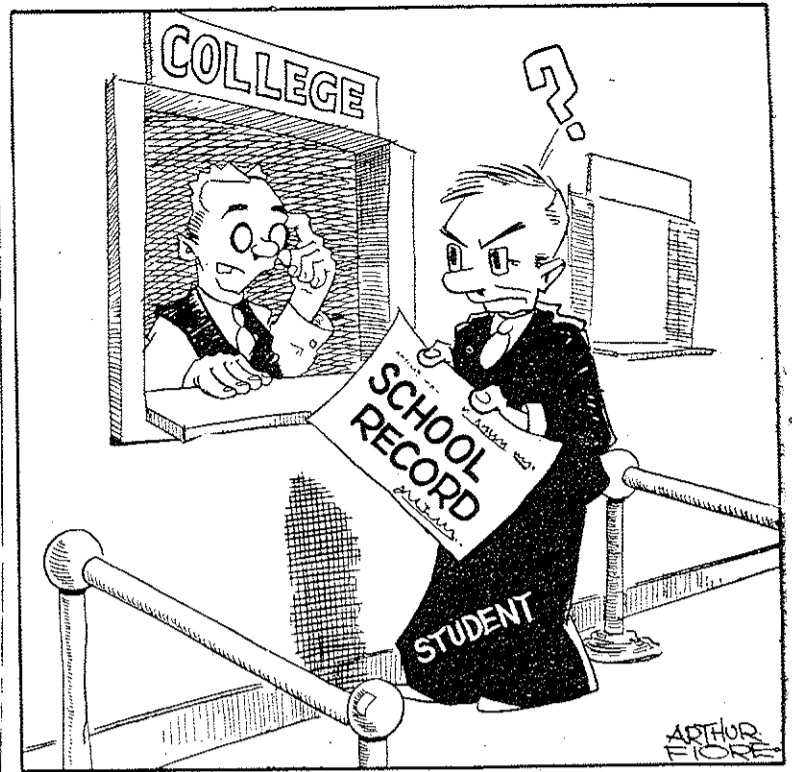

"And so endeth my freshman year," he said with an air of relief. "Just wait 'til that bunch of green-horns come up from grammar school next year. I guess I'll show them we do things up here at New Trier."

Summer School Offers Varied List of Courses

Summer school opens on June 17, and offers a number of interesting and valuable courses.

In the English department there are English IIA, IIB, IA, IIIB, and IVM. The IVM course will give students a chance to receive English credit for reading current literature. It meets second period and promises to be interesting. Dramatics II and IV are also offered.

The Math courses are Algebra IA, IB, IIIA, and IIIB; Economics IIA, IIB, and III; and Trigonometry IV. A special math course is primarily for freshmen, and it is an extremely practical subject. Wood shop and taxation problems will be used.

It will do much to review the Arithmetic that was supposed to have been learned in 8th grade.

The Social Science department offers Current Events III, U. S. History IIIA and IIIB, Roman History I and Physical Geography II.

Biology IIA and IIB, Chemistry IIIA and IIIB, and Physics IVA and IVB are offered as science courses.

Announce Several Faculty Changes

Several changes in the faculty, taking effect next September, were announced last Thursday by department heads. The English department has engaged Mr. Nelson S. Lehman of Evanston, a graduate of Northwestern University, as a regular teacher. Miss Kimball is leaving the history department for her marriage this summer and Mrs. Shearer is resigning. That Mrs. Mundell is leaving the Language Department, and changes in the third-year Latin Course are contemplated, was announced by Mr. Small, head of the department. Mrs. Cotton expects no changes in the Music Faculty, but explained the adoption next year of a selective chorus, and the creation of a choir of twenty-five mixed voices.

IIA, IIB, IIIA, and IIIB, and French IIA, IIB, IIIA and IIIB are the languages presented.

Vocational Civics I, two courses in typing, Penmanship I, Brief shorthand IVA, and Studio Art are also presented. Business Economics III is a course that will show students how business is run and the principles behind it as well. It is an extremely live course.

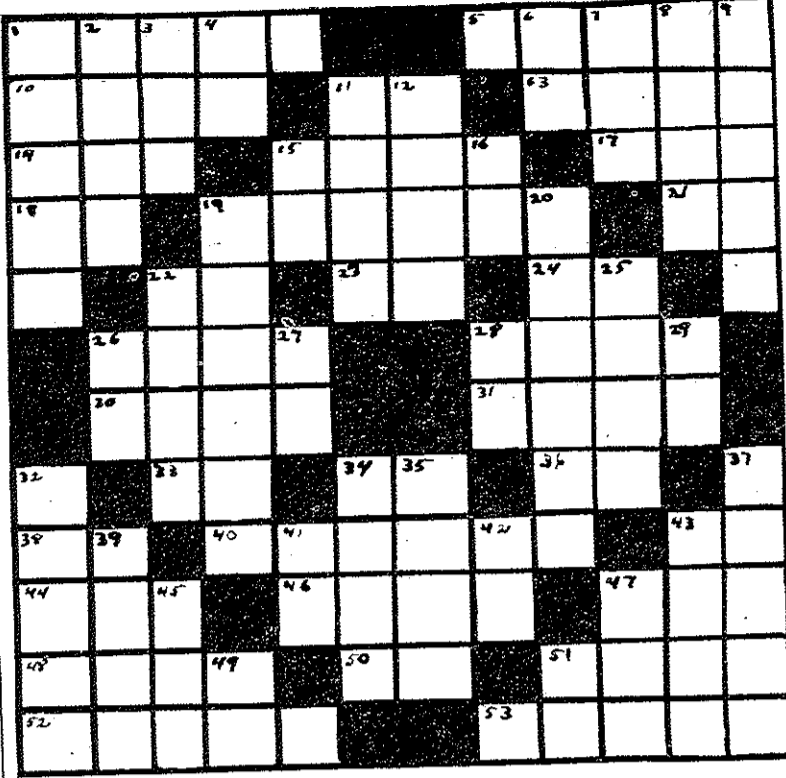

TRY TO SCORE HIGH ON THIS N. T. NEWS TEST

At the onset of the examination season, the NEWS offers its weary readers relaxation in the form of a test of information concerning New Trier affairs during the school year just ending. It is the hope of the editors that any students who become exhausted in academic examinations may derive renewed vigor and enthusiasm from working out the answers to the following list of questions.

Probably no student or teacher can answer every question in the list. Name your own par.

Operation of Book Store Explained

The Book Store increases the prices of used books it purchases about 25%. It found out after bitter experience that about as much actual money must be made on a used book as on a new book or it does not pay to handle the used one. The losses on old books are often heavy. Defective new books can be returned to the publisher for replacement. The many defective used books, which students sell to the Book Store, must be thrown away. When a department decides to discontinue the use of a book (and this happens to many every year) publishers will accept new copies of the discontinued book at full price. They accept used books for only a few cents each, and only if they are standard text books. For readers and other supplementary books they offer nothing. The Book Store estimated its loss on discontinued used books one year at $427. It paid students for used books last year about $2300.

On items, other than books, the Book Store make a gross profit varying from nothing at all to about 25%. A few items are actually sold at the invoice cost which means a loss, as no allowance is made for shipping charges and other expenses. This is done to keep prices at even nickles and dimes as much as possible and save minutes for the cashier, so that he can help late customers get to their adviser rooms on time.

The total of gross receipts last year from sales made to students and to the Board of Education was nearly $19,000. Close to $2,000 of this was used to pay expenses such as clerk hire, freight, express, telephone, postage, and sales tax. Have you noticed that the Book Store does not charge you a sales tax whenever you buy, as other stores do? Well, it had to pay about $380 to the State last year. After bills for books and supplies were paid, a net profit of about $600 remained. Now comes the big question! Who got that six-hundred dollars? Honestly and truly, Students of New Trier, You did! The money was turned over to the Board of Education, and mimeographed tests and lesson sheets, chalk, paper towels, and the numerous other things which are given you daily, or given to the teacher to use for your benefit. Is the Book Store a big graft? You prove it, before you say so!

Golf Team Enjoys Successful Season

The golf team has just finished a very successful season winning eight matches and losing only two, and through a bit of tough luck losing to Evanston in the Suburban League tournament by only one stroke. The prospects of the team next year, according to Mr. Aram, are the best in several years, because, he explains, there are five of this year's team returning and this group includes the "Big three", Franco, Gallagher, and Victor. McIntosh and Michelsen are also returning.
